Texas Collegians Meet Kendall This Week—Team Returns Home

By LARRY DAILEY.

Having won every game by overwhelming scores and with the exception of the University of Oklahoma contest meeting with little opposition, the Kendall college football eleven may be forced to go outside of southwestern football and play a post-season game in order to meet a team which can give them a battle. Notre Dame is the most likely opponent of the orange and black gridsters to play here the Saturday following Thanksgiving week. A Notre Dame-Kendall tilt in Tulsa would be the biggest football attraction ever staged in Oklahoma and would be watched by the football world, which is curious as to the ability of Kendall to hold its own with large western or eastern universities. By the way, Kendall holds a 21-point margin over Notre Dame. Kendall beat Oklahoma 26 points; Notre Dame beat Nebraska five points. Oklahoma and Nebraska tied.

Just what Kendall can do when opposed to a leading eleven is a matter of great conjecture among local football followers. The majority incline to the opinion that any eleven would be played a great game by the Presbyterian gridsters; that the local would score on practically any team by a field goal from 100 yards or a touchdown impossible.

Kendall Compares Well.

Those who have seen Kendall and large university eleven. In action compare the local team most favorably. The football followers of Tulsa saw the Notre Dame-Nebraska contest and are unanimous in their opinion that Kendall could hold Notre Dame to a low score and that their chances to win would be good.

Expenses would be heavy to bring the Indiana collegians to Tulsa and a guarantee of $4,000 has been demanded by Notre Dame. Little toward securing the game has been done but several Tulsans have voluntarily agreed to purchase a block of tickets and little difficulty in selling $4,000 worth of tickets anticipated, provided the game is secured.

Bright Spots in Victory.

Bright spots in Kendall's victory as related by Coach Schmidt are as follows:

Grove's attempt at a place kick of 25 yards in the third period pushed by two yards. John Young recovered the first kickoff on an Arkansas fumble, giving Kendall its first opportunity to score. Springer's high leap and recovery of Wallace's pass in the third quarter gave a touchdown in the third quarter. Springer came down with his back against the goal posts and squirmed over the line to score. The first time this year, the end of the line will be a splendid interference. He tied off sensational long runs.

Witty's play at center was of the highest order, his passing being accurate and timely. Fitted against Captain Coleman of the Razorbacks he more than held his own. Arkansas score came as a result of a 25-yard return of a punt around a Kendall's substitute end to the Kendall 25-yard line, two passes failed; on the third Springer deflected the pass to Winkelman, who stepped across the line for a touchdown. The play was an exact duplicate of Heber of Kansas' lucky recovery of a blocked pass in the Oklahoma-Kansas game of 1912.

Grove is without doubt the cleverest passer in southwestern football. He dodged charger after charger and coolly picked out the Kendall receiver for effective and long gains.

THREE TEAMS FIGHT FOR SOUTHERN TITLE

Georgia Tech, Alabama and Mississippi in Running for Grid Championship.

ATLANTA, Nov. 2.—The fight for the southern football championship apparently has resolved itself for the present at least, into a battle royal between Georgia Tech, Alabama and Mississippi A. & M. with upsets still possible, as each is yet to play formidable opponents.

The Alabama team came sharply to the front Saturday with the overwhelming defeat of Sewanee 49 to 0 while Georgia Tech also continued its victorious march with an easy victory over Davidson, 33 to 0, notwithstanding the rain-soaked field, a condition general throughout the south.

Mississippi A. & M. eliminated Louisiana State university 6 to 0. This squad had not been scored on this season.

Kentucky and Vanderbilt played a scoreless tie, though McTigue's men were on the defensive nearly all the time. Auburn's 7 to 0 victory over Georgia during a downpour gave the latter its first setback of the year.

Center college of Kentucky overwhelmed Virginia 49 to 0. North Carolina and Tennessee were evenly matched in a scoreless game, while Tulane had no difficulty annexing a 35 to 0 score against Mississippi college.

OHIO STATE IS PROBABLE WINNER IN THE BIG TEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—As a result of the upsets Saturday in the race for the western conference football championship, Ohio State tonight is the only undefeated eleven remaining in the struggle. But if the upsets are to continue, Purdue may defeat Ohio State next Saturday, and the Buckeyes in a tie for the "Big Ten" honors. This is a possibility, but the strong Ohio eleven appears to have the championship already bagged.

No Change in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2.—The situation in the coal fields of Arkansas caused by the national strike apparently was unchanged today. It is said that all of the mines in the state are closed and state union leaders say that all miners are out. Reports that the strike call might be cancelled in district 21 have been denied. Engineers, pumpers and firemen are said to be still at work at the mines to keep the mines from being flooded.

Alles Send Answer to Bulgaria. PARIS, Nov. 2.—The answer of the allies to Bulgaria's representations regarding the peace treaty with that nation will probably be presented tomorrow. The supreme council is expected to grant the Bulgarians ten days within which to submit their final answer.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" --- He Fell

AFTER SEASON GAME LIKELY FOR SOONERS

Possibilities of Post-Season Game With Texas Aggies or Rice Institute Discussed.

Special to The World.

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 1.—A post-season football game for the University of Oklahoma is already being discussed as a possibility providing about three "ifs" come true.

Two schools are possible opponents, the Texas Agricultural college and Rice Institute of Houston, and the stake would be the southwestern conference title.

If the Texas Aggies defeat the Oklahoma Aggies this week at College Station and Texas university wins from Rice at Austin, the Texas Aggies would be supreme in Texas as the Sooners have already won from the Longhorns.

But if Rice should defeat the Longhorns and the Longhorns in turn defeat the Texas Aggies later in the season, Rice would be the logical opponent for the Sooners. In case Oklahoma wins from the Oklahoma Farmers Thanksgiving day.

Rice and the Texas Aggies do not meet. Their relative standing depends altogether on outcome of other games. Leading sport critics of Texas, however, are predicting that the Texas Aggies will be the only team in that state to come through with a clean slate. They are talking about a battle between the Sooners and Texas Aggies for the week following Thanksgiving at Dallas.

Harry Wills to Workout in Tulsa Today and Tomorrow

Harry Wills, giant negro, who meets Sam Langford for the world's negro heavyweight boxing championship here Wednesday night, is to conclude workouts this afternoon and tomorrow at the Dreamland theater. Wills was due to arrive early this morning from New York city. He will start workouts at 2 o'clock.

Wills has been engaging in futile encounters throughout the east and Pacific coast and has been successful in both sections. Sporting writers of the east and west are enthusiastic over the fighting ability of Wills, whom they characterize as the greatest negro heavyweight developed since that great trio, Jack Johnson, Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette first became leading heavyweights.

Although he has boxed in practically every section of the United States, this is Wills' first appearance in the southwest and fans who have heard much of the prowess of the great negro scrapper are anxious to see him in action. Tulsa fans who have seen Langford are awaiting the arrival of Wills, desirous of getting a line on the style of Sam's opponent in the coming title battle.

Langford meets Topeka Ben Johnston in a 10-round encounter at Sioux City, Iowa, tonight and will leave for Tulsa immediately following that engagement, arriving here tomorrow night. Seat sale is progressing beyond the expectations of the Tulsa Athletic club promoters, indications being that another capacity house such as the night of the last Langford-Thompson go will result.

As a result when an aviator recently came to Knoxville and prepared to take passengers at a certain sum a minute, the city license collector demanded the $10 fee. It was paid. Since Knoxville was able to collect it is said other Iowa cities are interested. As far as known this city is the first to collect the tax in Iowa.

The ladies' Oriental Shrine of North America will hold their full ceremonial Tuesday, November 4, at the Masonic hall, instead of the K. C. hall as was previously announced. —Adv.
